Chelsey Megli

Closing Keynote: Talent Management

Chelsey Megli joined the University of Oregon Advancement Division as the new Director of Talent Management this winter. Prior to her move to Oregon, Ms. Megli created and led the TalentED Practice at the international fundraising consulting firm Bentz Whaley Flessner. As Director of TalentED she was responsible for providing counsel in the area of talent management, which included: conducting culture and talent management needs assessments, creating and facilitating training programs for advancement professionals and academics, and designing industry research projects in the topic areas of performance, turnover, time management, staffing, communications, and organizational health. Ms. Megli has worked with many prestigious institutions in her career, including the University of Arizona Foundation, Boston University, the University of California (Davis and San Diego), the University of Washington, the University of Miami, the University of Sydney, World Vision International, and the University of Texas System.

Ms. Megli speaks and writes regularly on the topic of talent management and has been featured in several publications, including CASE Currents and the Association of Healthcare Philanthropy Journal. She holds a bachelor’s of arts degree from The George Washington University and a master’s from the American University.